Occupational field

Most artistic activity takes place in the freelance sector. Jazz musicians perform as soloists as well as in small, medium and large ensembles. Jazz extends to many areas, so musicians perform in diverse genres and interdisciplinary productions. In addition to excellent artistic qualifications, this requires a high degree of flexibility for self-organization and marketing.

Qualification goals

The Bachelor of Music Degree Program Jazz Artistic leads students to the acquisition of broad artistic competence and prepares graduates optimally for careers in changing professional fields, as well as for further specialization and in-depth knowledge in corresponding Master of Music Degree Programs.

The primary goal is the development of an independent and discerning artistic personality. This includes the obligatory acquisition of a healthy technique on a professional level, as well as the development of one's own concept of sound for the interpretation of notated and especially improvised music. Graduates are familiar with typical jazz styles of ensemble playing, soloing and accompaniment and they possess appropriate repertoire knowledge, combined with musical and specific jazz historical analysis.

They are able to lead ensembles and create arrangements themselves. They can perform professionally in a variety of musical situations, both live and in the studio. Our graduates have already begun to develop their artistic profiles, and they are able to independently plan and implement their own artistic projects. Graduates can integrate themselves in different musical productions, and on the other hand, provide valuable artistic impulses through their creative approach. Both as soloists and as ensemble members, they incorporate artistic aspects in their work alongside their musical and craft expertise. Through the development of personal ideas for improvising, interpreting, composing and arranging, they are especially creative.

By establishing, managing and disseminating their own artistic projects, they make a valuable contribution to our society.
